IPCT Interpersonal Computing and Technology: An Electronic Journal for the 21st Century

IPCT: An Electronic Journal for the 21st Century is based on the following premises: the electronic journal is the wave of the future. By the year 2000, the bulk of information will be exchanged electronically and the nature of print media will have changed drastically. The journal is published quarterly in January, April, September, and December. It includes scholarly articles, book reviews, think pieces, and announcements. Each journal issue is the equivalent of 64 print pages.

The journal is coordinated with and issued through the Interpersonal Computing and Technology Discussion List, a list maintained, moderated and operated at Georgetown University. This list will serve as the initial readership. Subscribers to the list will be considered charter subscribers. There will be no charge for the service for the first year. Subscribers will be urged to comment extensively on content and format of the journal. After an experimental year, we will commence library collaboration and may find it necessary to charge for the service.

Free subscription

Since the journal will be distributed by IPCT-L, subscription to IPCT-L will be necessary for those desiring copies.
